#COMEWITHME

In the style of typical #comewithme Tiktok guide video, we see a Gen Z guy, who is a ghost, take us on a tour of his sharehouse.

We begin with our awkward dead influencer, in broad daylight no less, outside an older looking house. He holds a little lapel mic to his face as he talks, in authentic Tiktok fashion.

What's going on guys?

It's Richie B and welcome to my house tour, my haunted house tour!

..cos' I am a ghost, in essence - if we must break it down.

I was driving in a truck's a blind spot, right next to the passenger door.

And now I'm stuck in this sharehouse forever. Um, because I'm dead.

Come on in, let's check it out!

We cut to see the ghost inside the typical loungeroom of a sharehouse.

This is the living room.

I don't spend heaps of time here these days, with being dead and everything.

He speaks off camera.

Does this make sense: 'It's not the 'deading room'. Maybe I say that?

We cut to the ghost attempting to introduce the scene again.

So this is the deading room.

We cut to the kitchen. It's a hot mess.

And this is the kitchen. It was my turn to do the dishes. Four years ago.

I wish I could do these dishes, cos' there's not heaps going on.

We cut to a bedroom. Complete with a human in the bed trying to sleep. Our ghost sits on the bed and talks.

So this is my bedroom, well this was my bedroom. I suppose it's this guy's now.

He could've changed the sheets. Gross.

He sings a lullaby to the guy trying to sleep.

We then cut to a rumpus room with a PC setup in the corner. Another sharehouse human appears to be fixing a problem, while the ghost talks.

And now we've arrived at the best room in the house. The gaming room!

Permission to game? Permission granted!

I mess with the wifi so no one can beat my high scores.

We cut to the boy ghost outside his old sharehouse.

So this is my castle, forever.

Didn't see that coming.

Bit like the truck that hit me.

We cut to animation of a driving safety tip.

Whatever you do, stay out of trucks blind spots. If you're too close in front or behind or driving next to the driver or passenger door, you're basically invisible. And then you'll get more than just a fright.

We cut back to the guy ghost in front of his sharehouse.

Being dead is boring.

Drive safely around trucks.

We see the end logos.

BEING DEAD IS BORING

#DAY IN THE LIFE

In the style of a typical #dayinthelife Tiktok video, we see a Gen Z girl, who is a ghost, take us through what her day looks like.

It's mostly her voiceover on footage. But we begin by seeing her talking directly to camera.

GIRL:

Hey guys, it's me again - welcome to a day in my life!

We then hear her voiceover from this point.

Our day never ends, because...Chris.

We see Chris, the other ghost she's stuck with.

He tried to pass a truck while it was turning and now we're dead.

Clearly a buffoon, he picks his ear and wipes it on his shirt.

We cut to see the girl and guy ghost lying together looking up at her phone.

At 2:00, I check my socials.

The girl ghost excitedly reacts to a 'ding' from her phone: "Oh, Josh liked my funeral notice!"

We cut to see them in an attic in front of a white board, brainstorming. The boy ghost is writing down some ideas.

At 3am, we plan our haunting schedule - time to get creative!

We reveal the ideas he was writing. It says: "Hide stuff" "Say boo". The girl is not impressed.

At 8am, we do some haunting.

We see the boy ghost writing the word 'dickhead' in the condensation on the shower glass. The girl shakes her head - he's not taking this seriously.

At 10am, we hear a noise that makes us wish we were even more dead - millennial anthems.

We cut to see the Gen Z ghosts covering their ears as the millennial who lives in the house, practises his DJing. Not cool. Of course, the boy ghost kind of likes it.

Around 1 PM, it's dress rehearsals.

We see them practising haunting. The girl ghost walks into frame wearing a sheet - which scares the boy ghost.

We cut to see the girl ghost walk into the home's bathroom, without realising someone is in the shower.

At 5 PM, another life altering wrong turn - the human of the house showering.

This image will haunt me forever. Ugh.

She dissolves back through the bathroom door in disgust.

We cut to animation of an important safety tip.

Leave two lanes when a truck is turning at intersections, roundabouts or turning a corner. Truck drivers may legally use two lanes to turn. Plus, if you get it wrong, you'll get more than just a fright.

We cut back to the girl doing a selfie, and looking glum.

Being dead is boring.

Drive safely around trucks.

We see the end logos.

#GETREADYWITHME

In the style of typical #getreadywithme Tiktok makeup tutorial, we see a Gen Z influencer, who is a ghost, give us a life update.

She carefully applies makeup while speaking to camera.

GIRL:

Get ready with me while I give you guys a little life update.

A LOT has been happening!

For one, I didn't leave enough space when I was pulling in front of a truck. And now I'm dead.

Which does nothing for my complexion.

Anyway.

I mean, let's talk funerals.

Who does the makeup at open casket funerals?

Retired clowns, apparently.

And look at my hair.

Dull. Limp. One could even say...lifeless.

That was a pun.

But I did hear that your nails never stop growing...grateful!

So there it is. That's the look for today.

Forever.

It's too bad no one can see me.

Just like how I didn't see that truck.

We cut to animation of an important safety tip.

So when you're overtaking a truck, be sure to give them three to four times more space than you'd give a car. Trucks need way more room to slow down. So if you cut right in front, you'll get more than just a fright.

We cut back to the girl, who whines:

Being dead is boring.

Drive safely around trucks.

We see the end logos.
